

If you encounter problems paying with Paypal

Wednesday, 12 May 2004

Since it's arrival in the late 90's, Paypal has been a wonderful addition to the payment process family and has helped millions of users make millions of transactions. For new users however, the increased security of Paypal means you may not be able to make a swift payment, as so many are accustomed to.

Do not panic, if you encounter any problems paying us via Paypal, simply call or email us and we can help you.

Some users may encounter issues trying to log in for various reasons.

We can take any payment over the telephone, once your order is placed, it can be settled by any means necessary if you need help.

Simply give us a call and we can help you complete your order.
